INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES

The sub-fund's objective is to generate regular returns not correlated with the main market trends, in a context of risk controls. The choice of the assets is guided by an arbitration of mergers and/or acquisitions, consisting in benefiting from the price differences, which can appear at the time of takeover bids or exchange. Based on a solid and detailed analysis of the economic, legal and competitive frameworks, initiated operations are mainly held until the finalization of the offer. The portfolio only focuses on declared M&A situations. Initiated strategies consist in acquiring shares of the target company (cash offer) and selling shares of the acquirer (stock, cash and stock offer) or conversely if we expect the bid to fail. The sub-fund may also develop strategies on corporate action arbitrage such as preferential subscription rights.

INVESTMENT MANAGERS' COMMENTARY

Mergers and acquisitions activity got off to an interesting start in 2024 with the acquisition of software manufacturer Ansys by Synopsys, itself a software developer in the chip design segment. This takeover bid is worth $33.4 billion and represents the biggest transaction in the technology sector since the Broadcom/Avago merger. However, our sector policies mean that we do not invest in certain companies, including those involved in the extraction of unconventional hydrocarbons. In January, three deals worth $22.5 billion were excluded from our investment universe.

Macroeconomics, and in particular the uncertainty surrounding the start of monetary easing, remains a key driver of our activity. Across our portfolio, there was a global discount widening in the first month of the year, although no major concerns were raised about any specific names. The close-to-balance performance perfectly sums up a month in which the majority of issues were down, while a few transactions, on the other hand, made interesting progress. The main monthly gain was seen in the Amryt Pharmaceuticals strategy, finalised in April 2023. Under the terms of the offer made by Chiesi Farmaceuti, payment was accompanied by the receipt of optional Contingent Value Rights (CVRs), which could be valued if certain scenarios were met. Now that the assumptions needed to value the CVR have been validated, its value has risen sharply. Neighbourly Pharmacy shares also surged mid-month following the board's acceptance of Persistence Capital Partners' offer to take the Canadian independent pharmacy network private. The target had already been approached in October as part of the minority buyout. Conversely, the share price of fashion multinational Capri Holding fell in the second half of the month as we awaited the publication of its results and future developments in terms of antitrust. Finally, despite having received an offer of USD 29.50, Hollysys Automation Technologies stated that its special committee had maintained its recommendation to shareholders to vote in favour of the USD 26.50 offer from Ascendent Capital Partners, a shareholder holding 13.7% of the capital. According to the committee, this offer has a higher probability of success. As a result, the target's share price has fallen and is now trading at a non-speculative level. While a large number of strategies came to an end in the first few days of the year, we remained very active and, in particular, initiated a position in cancer treatment developer Immunogen as part of its takeover by AbbVie, and a position in Portuguese company Greenvolt-Energias Renovaveis following a proposal from KKR, which is seeking to expand its presence in renewable energies.
