INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES

The sub-fund's objective is to generate regular returns not correlated with the main market trends, in a context of risk controls. The choice of the assets is guided by an arbitration of mergers and/or acquisitions, consisting in benefiting from the price differences, which can appear at the time of takeover bids or exchange. Based on a solid and detailed analysis of the economic, legal and competitive frameworks, initiated operations are mainly held until the finalization of the offer. The portfolio only focuses on declared M&A situations. Initiated strategies consist in acquiring shares of the target company (cash offer) and selling shares of the acquirer (stock, cash and stock offer) or conversely if we expect the bid to fail. The sub-fund may also develop strategies on corporate action arbitrage such as preferential subscription rights.

INVESTMENT MANAGERS' COMMENTARY

The appetite among players in our segment remained strong in April, with no fewer than seven transactions announced for amounts exceeding $10 million. The acquisition of commercial roofing company TopBuild by U.S. building materials distributor QXO for $17.2 billion was the most significant transaction of the month. This deal illustrates the ongoing consolidation trend in the U.S. construction products sector, where companies are seeking to achieve critical scale while reshoring their supply chains to mitigate the impact of tariffs in a structurally attractive market.

The vast majority of strategies benefited from the favorable environment observed in April and therefore posted positive performances. Monthly performance was also supported by gains generated on positions that had been increased during previous periods of volatility. Among the main contributors, Iveco Group, a specialist in commercial vehicles, was the primary driver of the fund. Beyond the offer price set at €14.10 per share, which we estimate should be paid during the third quarter of 2026, the company distributed a special dividend of €5.8216 per share. This amount, close to the upper end of our expectations, follows the sale of its Defense division to Leonardo. Still in Italy, we continued to strengthen our strategy initiated on Telecom Italia as part of its strategic restructuring. Although this position already contributed positively to performance in April, the discount between savings shares and ordinary shares remains particularly attractive, supported by strong trading volumes and a shortening timeline to completion. Conversely, Allied Gold weighed on monthly P&L. The decline in the Canadian gold miner's share price was mainly driven by technical factors linked to renewed geopolitical risk in Mali. Although mining operations and business activities continue as normal, several terrorist attacks in the region have reignited investor concerns. Nevertheless, we believe that the valuation movements observed in Allied Gold remain erratic and that the takeover process initiated by Zijin Gold International could be completed before summer. Finally, the healthcare sector continued to provide opportunities in April. We took advantage of this environment to initiate several short-term positions, notably in Soleno Therapeutics and Avanos Medical, as well as optionality-driven strategies such as Assertio Holdings and Xoma Royalty, both of which include a CVR in their final consideration.
