INVESTMENT MANAGERS' COMMENTARY

The Stork DMS fund began 2026 with a positive January performance. The global economy continues to demonstrate resilience within a stabilizing macroeconomic environment. On both sides of the Atlantic, growth remains solid while gradually normalizing. In Europe, the easing of certain trade-related uncertainties has revived business and household confidence, while clarification regarding Greenland has removed a source of tension. As a result, eurozone economic sentiment rose to 99.4, its highest level since 2023, and inflation is converging toward the ECB's target. In the United States, growth remains well oriented at 2.4%, with the labor market showing signs of modest adjustment. In this context, both the ECB and the Federal Reserve kept policy rates unchanged. European Investment Grade spreads tightened, while the EuroStoxx 50 and the S&P 500 gained 2.7% and 1.4%, respectively. All segments contributed to monthly performance, albeit to varying degrees. The Credit compartment emerged as the main driver in an active Investment Grade primary market, where the balance between measured supply and strong demand led to a 7-bp tightening in euro spreads. Carry strategies formed the backbone of performance, notably through RCI Banque 03/29 in euro and AT&T 02/28 in dollar. Bond/CDS arbitrage strategies complemented these gains, as illustrated by Deutsche Telekom 06/30 versus CDS 06/30. Securitized funds, ABS and CLO, also contributed in a context of strong issuance and robust demand, benefiting from a 5-bp tightening in senior tranches. The Fixed Income compartment posted a more moderate advance. French asset swap positions performed well, supported by political stability and budgetary developments. At the start of the year, a carry bucket was built in 1-3 year maturities with issuers such as Morocco and Colombia, while the flatness of certain curves was exploited through steepening strategies offering optionality and protection, as illustrated by Indonesia 2031/2053 and Hungary 2034/2040 curve trades. On the equity-oriented side, the Convertible compartment was a key contributor. Low volatility supported the portfolio, allowing full carry capture across financial and corporate segments. CoCos provided steady contributions through Barclays 8.75% C31 and Rabobank 4.375% C27, while early calls on Banco Santander 4.375% C26 and BBVA 6% C26 enabled reallocation into SG 8.25% C27 and Deutsche Bank 4.625% C27. The Qiagen 2% 09/32 position was closed following a favorable rebound in volatility, and exposure to Fnac 0.25% 03/27 was increased after the announcement of a potential acquisition by EP Group. Finally, the M&A compartment posted a slight gain in a stress-free environment. Performance was driven by Anywhere Real Estate, whose share price rose more than 20% following antitrust approval and shareholder validation. The fund also benefited from Paramount Bed, where exposure was increased ahead of its delisting. Selling flows related to index exits supported these transactions. At the start of the year, a gradual reallocation toward the M&A and CLO compartments was implemented to benefit from renewed momentum in new merger and acquisition activity and from the attractive risk/return profile of senior European CLO tranches.
